

Nemis Technologies Announces Leadership Update

- Roger Basler joins the Board of Directors
- Thomas Struckmeyer appointed as CEO
- Co-founder Dr. Mario Hupfeld assumes role of CTO
- Successful execution of growth financing in 2024

15 February 2025, Au ZH, Switzerland: Nemis Technologies AG ("Nemis"), a company focused on developing and commercializing food safety diagnostic solutions for point of care environmental monitoring announces the election of Roger Basler to its Board of Directors. With his many years of international experience as CEO and market manager in various countries and companies such as Franke Water Systems, Heineken, Dyson, Red Bull and Compaq, he is ideally qualified to strengthen Nemis on the Board of Directors in sales and marketing strategy development and support the executive team.

Furthermore, Nemis announces the appointment of Thomas Struckmeyer as Chief Executive Officer (CEO). Dr. Mario Hupfeld will move back to the role of Chief Technology Officer (CTO) and focus on further optimizing delivery to customers globally.

Roger Meier, Chairman of the Board said: "NEMIS is entering a very exciting phase in broadening its value proposition and expanding its market presence globally. I am pleased to welcome Roger as our new colleague in the Board of Directors. And it is the right timing for Thomas' appointment as CEO as we are accelerating our market expansion. In addition, with Mario taking on the CTO role, and with their experience and proven track record in developing and delivering novel food safety solutions to international customers, we have a strong team in place to lead Nemis into its next phase."

Dr. Mario Hupfeld, CTO and Co-Founder, said: “NEMIS has entered the next phase of its growth. With Thomas as CEO we are gaining a fantastic senior executive from our industry with an excellent track record. I am excited to work with Thomas as we share the same vision for our solution portfolio. Under his strategic leadership NEMIS will take the key business steps to realise the value of our customer offering and our ambitious plans.”

Thomas Struckmeyer, newly appointed CEO of Nemis, added: “Foodborne pathogens are playing an important role in people's lives and represent a growing threat to health. The solutions developed by Nemis are perfectly suited to countering this threat effectively, quickly and easily. Nemis solutions portfolio adds value to a One Health support and contribute significantly to a safe food supply.”

Thomas Struckmeyer brings over 25 years of experience in the development, sales and marketing of test methods for microbiological targets. In his last position, he was Executive Vice President EMEA at Hygiena and CEO of BioChek. Prior to that, he led IdentiGEN as CEO after serving for several years in roles of increasing responsibility at Prionics.

For further information request, please contact Roger Meier, Chairman of the Board, roger.meier@nemistech.com.